INFORMED CONSENT

PROVIDER-CLIENT AGREEMENT:

Welcome to the practice! This document contains important information about our professional services and business policies. When you sign this document, it will also represent an agreement between us. We can discuss any questions you have when you sign this or at any time in the future.

PSYCHOLOGICAL and PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES:

Therapy and psychiatric services are a relationship between people that works in part because of clearly defined rights and responsibilities held by each person. As a client in therapy or psychiatric services, you have certain rights and responsibilities that are important for you to understand. There are also legal limitations to those rights that you should be aware of. As your therapist/prescriber, we have corresponding responsibilities to you. These rights and responsibilities are described in the following sections.

Psychotherapy has both benefits and risks. Risks might include experiencing uncomfortable feelings, such as sadness, guilt, anxiety, anger, frustration and helplessness, because the process of therapy often requires discussing the unpleasant aspects of your life. However, therapy has been shown to have great benefits for individuals. It can lead to a significant reduction in feelings of distress and a greater personal awareness. Therapy involves an active effort on your part. In order to be most successful, you will have to work on things outside of the session. For psychiatric services, it is important to follow all of the advice by your prescriber and to take the medication as prescribed. It is your responsibility to manage your medication and make additional appointments if you are running out of your medication.

The first 2-4 sessions will involve a comprehensive evaluation of your needs. At the end of these sessions, we will be able to offer you initial clinical impressions and we can agree on some treatment goals. You should evaluate this information and make your own assessment about whether you feel comfortable working with your therapist or prescriber. If you have any questions, please ask them at any time. If you wish to work with someone else or get a second opinion, you have a right to do so.

APPOINTMENTS:

All therapy appointments will be 50 minutes in duration, once a week at a time we agree on. However, as you start to make progress and feel better, these sessions may become less frequent. The time scheduled for you appointment is assigned to you and you alone. If you need to cancel or reschedule a session, we ask that you provide us with 48 hours notice. If you miss a session without cancelling, or cancel with less than 48 hours notice, our policy is to collect a missed appointment fee, set as $80. If you arrive to your appointment late, your appointment will still end on time.

We offer teletherapy services. These sessions can be over the phone or through our EMR. These sessions follow all of the same guidelines as face to face sessions but with the added convenience of not having to travel to the office.

The initial psychiatric appointment will be one hour so the doctor or nurse practitioner can record an accurate medical and psychiatric history. It is important to bring in a list of medications that you are already taking. After the initial visit, you will see your prescriber once every two to four weeks to make sure that you are not experiencing any negative side effects. After you are stable on a medication, your prescriber may want to see you once every three months.

PROFESSIONAL RECORDS:

We are required to keep appropriate records of the psychological services that we provide. Your records are maintained in a secure location in the office and your online medical records are on a HIPPA approved site.

CONFIDENTIALITY:

Everything that is discussed in our session is confidential. If you tell your provider that you are going to hurt yourself or someone else, then your provider is required by law to break that confidentiality. It will be discussed with you, who will be told. It may be a spouse, or close family friend or other family member. In serious cases of suicidal or homicidal plans, your provider may have to inform the police. In addition, if you have any knowledge of a child abuse situation then your provider is also required by law to inform the appropriate people. The appropriate party in this case, will most likely be child protective services.

CONTACTING US:

Your provider is often not immediately available by telephone. Your provider will not answer the phone when he or she is with a client. At these times, please leave a message on the confidential voice mail and your provider will return your phone call as soon as possible. If you are in crisis, do not wait for your therapist or nurse to return your call. Please go to your nearest emergency room or call 911.

If you need to discuss an issue that is going to take more than 10 minutes, we ask that you schedule an appointment so that you can be given the attention and time that you deserve.

You will be informed in advance of any planned absences and we will provide you with the name and phone number of the mental health professional that will be covering.

OTHER RIGHTS:

We are an LGBTQ+ and transgender friendly practice. Our practice is a safe place for all individuals. If you are unhappy with what is happening in therapy or with your psychiatric service, we hope you will talk with us so that we can respond to your concerns. Any concerns will be handled with care and respect. You may also request that we refer you to another therapist or nurse and you are free to end therapy or your psychiatric service at any time. You have the right to considerate, safe and respectful care without discrimination to race, ethnicity, color, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion or national origin. You have the right to ask questions about any aspect of therapy or psychiatric service and about our specific training and expertise. You have the right that we will not have any other relationship with you than that of provider – client.

TERMINATION OF TREATMENT:

You have the right to terminate therapy/psychiatric service at any time and for any reason. It is our hope that termination of therapy will naturally come after you feel that you have made progress on all of your therapy goals and are feeling a general sense of well-being. You are encouraged to make an appointment in the future if you ever need a "check-up" or would like to restart therapy for different issues. For psychiatric treatment, it is important that you follow the advice of your prescriber and if you terminate services with him or her, do not stop your medication without their consent. If your prescriber decides to terminate treatment with you, she or he will make sure that you have a 30 day supply of your medication and will provide you with three referral sources for medication management.

HIPAA Information and Consent Form

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) provides safeguards to protect your privacy. Implementation of HIPAA requirements officially began on April 14, 2003. Many of the policies have been our practice for years. This form is a "friendly" version. A more complete text is posted in the office.

What this is all about: Specifically, there are rules and restrictions on who may see or be notified of your Protected Health Information (PHI). These restrictions do not include the normal interchange of information necessary to provide you with office services. HIPAA provides certain rights and protections to you as the patient. We balance these needs with our goal of providing you with quality professional service and care. Additional information is available from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. www.hhs.gov

We have adopted the following policies:

1. Patient information will be kept confidential except as is necessary to provide services or to ensure that all administrative matters related to your care are handled appropriately. This specifically includes the sharing of information with other healthcare providers, laboratories, health insurance payers as is necessary and appropriate for your care. Patient files may be stored in open file racks and will not contain any coding which identifies a patient's condition or information which is not already a matter of public record. The normal course of providing care means that such records may be left, at least temporarily, in administrative areas such as the front office, examination room, etc. Those records will not be available to persons other than office staff. You agree to the normal procedures utilized within the office for the handling of charts, patient records, PHI and other documents or information.

2. It is the policy of this office to remind patients of their appointments. We may do this by telephone, e-mail, U.S mail, or by any means convenient for the practice and/or as requested by you. We may send you other communications informing you of changes to office policy and new technology that you might find valuable or informative.

3. The practice utilizes a number of vendors in the conduct of business. These vendors may have access to PHI but must agree to abide by the confidentiality rules of HIPAA.

4. You understand and agree to inspections of the office and review of documents which may include PHI by government agencies or insurance payers in normal performance of their duties.

5. You agree to bring any concerns or complaints regarding privacy to the attention of the office manger or the doctor.

6. Your confidential information will not be used for the purposes of marketing or advertising of products, goods or services.

7. We agree to provide patients with access to their records in accordance with state and federal laws.

8. We may change, add, delete or modify any of these provisions to better serve the needs of the both the practice and the patient.

9. You have the right to request restrictions in the use of your protected health information and to request change in certain policies used within the office concerning your PHI. However, we are not obligated to alter internal policies to conform to your request.

I, ______________________________________ date ____________ do hereby consent and acknowledge my agreement to the terms set forth in the HIPAA INFORMATION FORM and any subsequent changes in office policy. I understand that this consent shall remain in force from this time forward.
